SFL Data Selected by Oracle as Exclusive Provider of Electronic Discovery Services

San Francisco, Calif. — SFL Data, a leading electronic discovery solutions provider for corporations, government agencies and law firms, has entered into an agreement to serve as the exclusive provider of managed e-discovery services for new matters for Oracle Corporation (NASDAQ: ORCL).

“We selected SFL Data’s managed e-discovery services model because it gives us greater clarity into the e-discovery process and drives efficiency without significant internal investments,” said Oracle Director of e-Discovery Pallab Chakraborty. “Using this model also enables us to more accurately predict expenses than we could previously.”

SFL Data uses a consultative, metrics-driven approach to help its clients control costs, improve processes and reduce risk. As part of its agreement with Oracle, SFL Data will utilize both web-based and proprietary processes and provide a variety of services, including case set-up, planning and training on customized review platforms.

“We believe our contract with Oracle represents the future of e-discovery,” said SFL Data CEO Christian Lawrence. “Corporations rely on e-discovery service providers like SFL Data because we can provide repeatable, efficient and defensible processes for data management, generally at a lower cost than can internal corporate legal or IT departments. In many cases, we’ve lowered e-discovery costs for our clients by more than 30 percent.”
